

A person who gives advice about financial products is required to hold a financial services license. Examples of some financial products include superannuation funds, managed investment schemes, some types of insurance, shares, and other securities. Information about the buying and selling of real estate, or how to run a business, fall outside the definition of a financial product.

Any advice you may be provided today is not financial, legal or tax advice and is restricted to general advice about investing and real estate. General advice, including forecasts and opinions, does not take into consideration your specific objectives, financial situation or needs. You should consider the appropriateness of the advice to your own circumstances. You should also get a copy of the product disclosure statement relevant to any financial product you are considering and review that information before investing.

Any testimonials or discussions are provided voluntarily, without payment, inducement or other benefit and are from genuine clients of OneLife. In the event that financial advice is provided, it is provided by Financial Planning Works Pty Limited ACN 003 780 407. AFSL 247180
